

Put the motor road to Farmington on our list of things to do for Albuquerque in 1915.

LAND

can be found here, Mr. Knicker. The thing is to get the colonists.

The Evening Herald

MEMBER ASSOCIATED PRESS

SANTA

Class has found a crowd of willing workers for the Municipal Christmas tree.

TRIBUNE-CITIZEN,
Vol. 26, No. 56.

© 1914

ALBUQUERQUE, NEW MEXICO, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1914.

THE EVENING HERALD
VOL. 4, NO. 230.

GERMAN EXPERT ASSERTS RUSSIA HAS LOST MORE THAN A MILLION MEN SINCE WAR BEGAN

DEFINITE NEWS TODAY TRANSFORMS RUSSIA'S ALLEGED SUCCESS INTO A DECISIVE VICTORY FOR GERMANY

AVIATOR SUCCEEDS IN BOMBARDING KRUPP WORKS AT ESSEN

OFFICIAL REPORTS INCREASINGLY LAGONIC

Today's War Summary

Although the opinion is expressed by foreign military experts that operations on a large scale are in progress in France and Belgium, today's announcements from Paris and Berlin tell of no important battles.

The fighting in the east likewise has diminished in intensity. The German war office statement reports that nothing of importance has occurred, west or east. The French announcement speaks of violent artillery fire near the North sea at Nieuport, in the vicinity of Ypres, and between the rivers Lys and Somme. German forces persist in their infantry attacks in the Artois region, but so far as has been disclosed have made little progress. The barrier of water which helped the allies to check the German advance toward the French coast has been extended, further territory having been inundated to the south of Dixmude.

The Krupp factory at Essen, which supplies the German army with its great guns, is said to have been bombarded by an aviator, though with what effect is unknown.

In Buda-Pest it is asserted that the capture of Belgrade by the Austrians was accomplished in a battle with bayonets. This version is at variance with reports from Niš that the Serbian troops evacuated the city.

King George was on the firing line in France today. Emperor William, who recently visited his troops in East Prussia, is now said to be in Breslau, Silesia, where he conferred with Archduke Frederick, commander of the Austro-Hungarian army.

For the first time since the Germans were checked in their advance on Warsaw, it was possible today to gain a fairly clear idea of the military situation in Russian Poland in its broader aspect. Advice from both Berlin and Petrograd indicated that the Germans had definitely succeeded in throwing back the enveloping Russian forces and were maintaining stoutly their positions west of Lowicz. Furthermore it is said that the Germans are again undertaking an energetic offensive.

In neither theatre of the war has anything of importance happened.

NOTHING OF IMPORTANCE— SAVS CRISP BERLIN BULLETIN

Berlin, Dec. 3 (12:55 p. m.)—All reports agree that in northern Poland the battle is still undecided and fiercely contested, with the Germans making desperate efforts to resume their forward movement in the direction of Warsaw.

From Petrograd comes the report that General Benckendorff has been made the scapegoat on account of the Napoleonic coup which enabled the German forces to cut through the encircling Russian cordon. According to this report, the diabolism of General Benckendorff in bringing up reinforcements made the success of the German move possible.

Russian forces are now reported to be within ten miles of Cracow, while the situation at Przemysl, the only Austrian stronghold left in Galicia, is declared to be desperate.

The anxiety in England over conditions in South Africa has been greatly relieved by the reported capture of the elusive De Wet, the most formidable among the leaders of the South African rebellion.

GERMANS' WARSAW CAMPAIGN CONCENTRATES ON CENTER

Petrograd, via London, Dec. 3 (12:55 p. m.)—The Warsaw campaign of the Germans, which evidently was an attempt on the part of the invaders to carry everything before them by the swiftness and the boldness of the operations of a comparatively limited number of troops, appears today to competent military experts in Petrograd to have resolved itself into a persistent and dogged grinding against the Russian center, making use of the recently arrived heavy reinforcements to this end.

The main attempt appears to be centering around Lodz, and the Germans are seemingly intent only on holding the Russians against tanking operations.

The military commander of the Novo Vremya draws attention to what he calls a tactical error on the part of the Austrians in withdrawing such a large portion of the army defeated in Galicia across the Carpathian mountains into Hungary, the Russians meanwhile confining themselves to holding the passes into the Hungarian plain. Thus the Austrians have comparatively few troops in

Petrograd, via London, Dec. 3 (12:55 p. m.)—The Warsaw campaign of the Germans, which evidently was an attempt on the part of the invaders to carry everything before them by the swiftness and the boldness of the operations of a comparatively limited number of troops, appears today to competent military experts in Petrograd to have resolved itself into a persistent and dogged grinding against the Russian center, making use of the recently arrived heavy reinforcements to this end.

The main attempt appears to be centering around Lodz, and the Germans are seemingly intent only on holding the Russians against tanking operations.

The military commander of the Novo Vremya draws attention to what he calls a tactical error on the part of the Austrians in withdrawing such a large portion of the army defeated in Galicia across the Carpathian mountains into Hungary, the Russians meanwhile confining themselves to holding the passes into the Hungarian plain. Thus the Austrians have comparatively few troops in

Petrograd, via London, Dec. 3 (12:55 p. m.)—The Warsaw campaign of the Germans, which evidently was an attempt on the part of the invaders to carry everything before them by the swiftness and the boldness of the operations of a comparatively limited number of troops, appears today to competent military experts in Petrograd to have resolved itself into a persistent and dogged grinding against the Russian center, making use of the recently arrived heavy reinforcements to this end.

The main attempt appears to be centering around Lodz, and the Germans are seemingly intent only on holding the Russians against tanking operations.

The military commander of the Novo Vremya draws attention to what he calls a tactical error on the part of the Austrians in withdrawing such a large portion of the army defeated in Galicia across the Carpathian mountains into Hungary, the Russians meanwhile confining themselves to holding the passes into the Hungarian plain. Thus the Austrians have comparatively few troops in

Petrograd, via London, Dec. 3 (12:55 p. m.)—The Warsaw campaign of the Germans, which evidently was an attempt on the part of the invaders to carry everything before them by the swiftness and the boldness of the operations of a comparatively limited number of troops, appears today to competent military experts in Petrograd to have resolved itself into a persistent and dogged grinding against the Russian center, making use of the recently arrived heavy reinforcements to this end.

The main attempt appears to be centering around Lodz, and the Germans are seemingly intent only on holding the Russians against tanking operations.

The military commander of the Novo Vremya draws attention to what he calls a tactical error on the part of the Austrians in withdrawing such a large portion of the army defeated in Galicia across the Carpathian mountains into Hungary, the Russians meanwhile confining themselves to holding the passes into the Hungarian plain. Thus the Austrians have comparatively few troops in

Petrograd, via London, Dec. 3 (12:55 p. m.)—The Warsaw campaign of the Germans, which evidently was an attempt on the part of the invaders to carry everything before them by the swiftness and the boldness of the operations of a comparatively limited number of troops, appears today to competent military experts in Petrograd to have resolved itself into a persistent and dogged grinding against the Russian center, making use of the recently arrived heavy reinforcements to this end.

The main attempt appears to be centering around Lodz, and the Germans are seemingly intent only on holding the Russians against tanking operations.

The military commander of the Novo Vremya draws attention to what he calls a tactical error on the part of the Austrians in withdrawing such a large portion of the army defeated in Galicia across the Carpathian mountains into Hungary, the Russians meanwhile confining themselves to holding the passes into the Hungarian plain. Thus the Austrians have comparatively few troops in

Petrograd, via London, Dec. 3 (12:55 p. m.)—The Warsaw campaign of the Germans, which evidently was an attempt on the part of the invaders to carry everything before them by the swiftness and the boldness of the operations of a comparatively limited number of troops, appears today to competent military experts in Petrograd to have resolved itself into a persistent and dogged grinding against the Russian center, making use of the recently arrived heavy reinforcements to this end.

The main attempt appears to be centering around Lodz, and the Germans are seemingly intent only on holding the Russians against tanking operations.

The military commander of the Novo Vremya draws attention to what he calls a tactical error on the part of the Austrians in withdrawing such a large portion of the army defeated in Galicia across the Carpathian mountains into Hungary, the Russians meanwhile confining themselves to holding the passes into the Hungarian plain. Thus the Austrians have comparatively few troops in

Petrograd, via London, Dec. 3 (12:55 p. m.)—The Warsaw campaign of the Germans, which evidently was an attempt on the part of the invaders to carry everything before them by the swiftness and the boldness of the operations of a comparatively limited number of troops, appears today to competent military experts in Petrograd to have resolved itself into a persistent and dogged grinding against the Russian center, making use of the recently arrived heavy reinforcements to this end.

The main attempt appears to be centering around Lodz, and the Germans are seemingly intent only on holding the Russians against tanking operations.

The military commander of the Novo Vremya draws attention to what he calls a tactical error on the part of the Austrians in withdrawing such a large portion of the army defeated in Galicia across the Carpathian mountains into Hungary, the Russians meanwhile confining themselves to holding the passes into the Hungarian plain. Thus the Austrians have comparatively few troops in

Petrograd, via London, Dec. 3 (12:55 p. m.)—The Warsaw campaign of the Germans, which evidently was an attempt on the part of the invaders to carry everything before them by the swiftness and the boldness of the operations of a comparatively limited number of troops, appears today to competent military experts in Petrograd to have resolved itself into a persistent and dogged grinding against the Russian center, making use of the recently arrived heavy reinforcements to this end.

The main attempt appears to be centering around Lodz, and the Germans are seemingly intent only on holding the Russians against tanking operations.

The military commander of the Novo Vremya draws attention to what he calls a tactical error on the part of the Austrians in withdrawing such a large portion of the army defeated in Galicia across the Carpathian mountains into Hungary, the Russians meanwhile confining themselves to holding the passes into the Hungarian plain. Thus the Austrians have comparatively few troops in

Petrograd, via London, Dec. 3 (12:55 p. m.)—The Warsaw campaign of the Germans, which evidently was an attempt on the part of the invaders to carry everything before them by the swiftness and the boldness of the operations of a comparatively limited number of troops, appears today to competent military experts in Petrograd to have resolved itself into a persistent and dogged grinding against the Russian center, making use of the recently arrived heavy reinforcements to this end.

The main attempt appears to be centering around Lodz, and the Germans are seemingly intent only on holding the Russians against tanking operations.

The military commander of the Novo Vremya draws attention to what he calls a tactical error on the part of the Austrians in withdrawing such a large portion of the army defeated in Galicia across the Carpathian mountains into Hungary, the Russians meanwhile confining themselves to holding the passes into the Hungarian plain. Thus the Austrians have comparatively few troops in

Petrograd, via London, Dec. 3 (12:55 p. m.)—The Warsaw campaign of the Germans, which evidently was an attempt on the part of the invaders to carry everything before them by the swiftness and the boldness of the operations of a comparatively limited number of troops, appears today to competent military experts in Petrograd to have resolved itself into a persistent and dogged grinding against the Russian center, making use of the recently arrived heavy reinforcements to this end.

The main attempt appears to be centering around Lodz, and the Germans are seemingly intent only on holding the Russians against tanking operations.

The military commander of the Novo Vremya draws attention to what he calls a tactical error on the part of the Austrians in withdrawing such a large portion of the army defeated in Galicia across the Carpathian mountains into Hungary, the Russians meanwhile confining themselves to holding the passes into the Hungarian plain. Thus the Austrians have comparatively few troops in

Petrograd, via London, Dec. 3 (12:55 p. m.)—The Warsaw campaign of the Germans, which evidently was an attempt on the part of the invaders to carry everything before them by the swiftness and the boldness of the operations of a comparatively limited number of troops, appears today to competent military experts in Petrograd to have resolved itself into a persistent and dogged grinding against the Russian center, making use of the recently arrived heavy reinforcements to this end.

The main attempt appears to be centering around Lodz, and the Germans are seemingly intent only on holding the Russians against tanking operations.

The military commander of the Novo Vremya draws attention to what he calls a tactical error on the part of the Austrians in withdrawing such a large portion of the army defeated in Galicia across the Carpathian mountains into Hungary, the Russians meanwhile confining themselves to holding the passes into the Hungarian plain. Thus the Austrians have comparatively few troops in

Petrograd, via London, Dec. 3 (12:55 p. m.)—The Warsaw campaign of the Germans, which evidently was an attempt on the part of the invaders to carry everything before them by the swiftness and the boldness of the operations of a comparatively limited number of troops, appears today to competent military experts in Petrograd to have resolved itself into a persistent and dogged grinding against the Russian center, making use of the recently arrived heavy reinforcements to this end.

The main attempt appears to be centering around Lodz, and the Germans are seemingly intent only on holding the Russians against tanking operations.

The military commander of the Novo Vremya draws attention to what he calls a tactical error on the part of the Austrians in withdrawing such a large portion of the army defeated in Galicia across the Carpathian mountains into Hungary, the Russians meanwhile confining themselves to holding the passes into the Hungarian plain. Thus the Austrians have comparatively few troops in

Petrograd, via London, Dec. 3 (12:55 p. m.)—The Warsaw campaign of the Germans, which evidently was an attempt on the part of the invaders to carry everything before them by the swiftness and the boldness of the operations of a comparatively limited number of troops, appears today to competent military experts in Petrograd to have resolved itself into a persistent and dogged grinding against the Russian center, making use of the recently arrived heavy reinforcements to this end.

The main attempt appears to be centering around Lodz, and the Germans are seemingly intent only on holding the Russians against tanking operations.

The military commander of the Novo Vremya draws attention to what he calls a tactical error on the part of the Austrians in withdrawing such a large portion of the army defeated in Galicia across the Carpathian mountains into Hungary, the Russians meanwhile confining themselves to holding the passes into the Hungarian plain. Thus the Austrians have comparatively few troops in

Petrograd, via London, Dec. 3 (12:55 p. m.)—The Warsaw campaign of the Germans, which evidently was an attempt on the part of the invaders to carry everything before them by the swiftness and the boldness of the operations of a comparatively limited number of troops, appears today to competent military experts in Petrograd to have resolved itself into a persistent and dogged grinding against the Russian center, making use of the recently arrived heavy reinforcements to this end.

The main attempt appears to be centering around Lodz, and the Germans are seemingly intent only on holding the Russians against tanking operations.

The military commander of the Novo Vremya draws attention to what he calls a tactical error on the part of the Austrians in withdrawing such a large portion of the army defeated in Galicia across the Carpathian mountains into Hungary, the Russians meanwhile confining themselves to holding the passes into the Hungarian plain. Thus the Austrians have comparatively few troops in

Petrograd, via London, Dec. 3 (12:55 p. m.)—The Warsaw campaign of the Germans, which evidently was an attempt on the part of the invaders to carry everything before them by the swiftness and the boldness of the operations of a comparatively limited number of troops, appears today to competent military experts in Petrograd to have resolved itself into a persistent and dogged grinding against the Russian center, making use of the recently arrived heavy reinforcements to this end.

The main attempt appears to be centering around Lodz, and the Germans are seemingly intent only on holding the Russians against tanking operations.

The military commander of the Novo Vremya draws attention to what he calls a tactical error on the part of the Austrians in withdrawing such a large portion of the army defeated in Galicia across the Carpathian mountains into Hungary, the Russians meanwhile confining themselves to holding the passes into the Hungarian plain. Thus the Austrians have comparatively few troops in

Petrograd, via London, Dec. 3 (12:55 p. m.)—The Warsaw campaign of the Germans, which evidently was an attempt on the part of the invaders to carry everything before them by the swiftness and the boldness of the operations of a comparatively limited number of troops, appears today to competent military experts in Petrograd to have resolved itself into a persistent and dogged grinding against the Russian center, making use of the recently arrived heavy reinforcements to this end.

The main attempt appears to be centering around Lodz, and the Germans are seemingly intent only on holding the Russians against tanking operations.

The military commander of the Novo Vremya draws attention to what he calls a tactical error on the part of the Austrians in withdrawing such a large portion of the army defeated in Galicia across the Carpathian mountains into Hungary, the Russians meanwhile confining themselves to holding the passes into the Hungarian plain. Thus the Austrians have comparatively few troops in

Petrograd, via London, Dec. 3 (12:55 p. m.)—The Warsaw campaign of the Germans, which evidently was an attempt on the part of the invaders to carry everything before them by the swiftness and the boldness of the operations of a comparatively limited number of troops, appears today to competent military experts in Petrograd to have resolved itself into a persistent and dogged grinding against the Russian center, making use of the recently arrived heavy reinforcements to this end.

The main attempt appears to be centering around Lodz, and the Germans are seemingly intent only on holding the Russians against tanking operations.

The military commander of the Novo Vremya draws attention to what he calls a tactical error on the part of the Austrians in withdrawing such a large portion of the army defeated in Galicia across the Carpathian mountains into Hungary, the Russians meanwhile confining themselves to holding the passes into the Hungarian plain. Thus the Austrians have comparatively few troops in

Petrograd, via London, Dec. 3 (12:55 p. m.)—The Warsaw campaign of the Germans, which evidently was an attempt on the part of the invaders to carry everything before them by the swiftness and the boldness of the operations of a comparatively limited number of troops, appears today to competent military experts in Petrograd to have resolved itself into a persistent and dogged grinding against the Russian center, making use of the recently arrived heavy reinforcements to this end.

The main attempt appears to be centering around Lodz, and the Germans are seemingly intent only on holding the Russians against tanking operations.

The military commander of the Novo Vremya draws attention to what he calls a tactical error on the part of the Austrians in withdrawing such a large portion of the army defeated in Galicia across the Carpathian mountains into Hungary, the Russians meanwhile confining themselves to holding the passes into the Hungarian plain. Thus the Austrians have comparatively few troops in

Petrograd, via London, Dec. 3 (12:55 p. m.)—The Warsaw campaign of the Germans, which evidently was an attempt on the part of the invaders to carry everything before them by the swiftness and the boldness of the operations of a comparatively limited number of troops, appears today to competent military experts in Petrograd to have resolved itself into a persistent and dogged grinding against the Russian center, making use of the recently arrived heavy reinforcements to this end.

The main attempt appears to be centering around Lodz, and the Germans are seemingly intent only on holding the Russians against tanking operations.

The military commander of the Novo Vremya draws attention to what he calls a tactical error on the part of the Austrians in withdrawing such a large portion of the army defeated in Galicia across the Carpathian mountains into Hungary, the Russians meanwhile confining themselves to holding the passes into the Hungarian plain. Thus the Austrians have comparatively few troops in

Petrograd, via London, Dec. 3 (12:55 p. m.)—The Warsaw campaign of the Germans, which evidently was an attempt on the part of the invaders to carry everything before them by the swiftness and the boldness of the operations of a comparatively limited number of troops, appears today to competent military experts in Petrograd to have resolved itself into a persistent and dogged grinding against the Russian center, making use of the recently arrived heavy reinforcements to this end.

The main attempt appears to be centering around Lodz, and the Germans are seemingly intent only on holding the Russians against tanking operations.

The military commander of the Novo Vremya draws attention to what he calls a tactical error on the part of the Austrians in withdrawing such a large portion of the army defeated in Galicia across the Carpathian mountains into Hungary, the Russians meanwhile confining themselves to holding the passes into the